The move is underway.

Last month I announced our move to Queanbeyan. The move is well underway with the workshop already operating from the new building. We are just into our third week as I write this and yet quite a lot has changed at the new home of Monaro Timber. We've demolished a lot of old racking that was past its use by date, installed a new fence at the front and side of the building, painted the faces of some of the existing racking and we have moved in some of our Fyshwick racking and set it up. The office has had a wrecking bar taken to it and is looking a little worse for wear but is now under going the necessary painting and carpentry works to get it in shape.

All in all it's a lot of work but the results promise to be pretty exciting. And there is only

ONE WEEK TO GO.

We will be operating from the new building on Monday the 17th of August. Phones have been arranged and deadlines need to be met so the move date is fixed!

Here are some important details you may wish to make a note of.

The map below shows how to find us. From Canberra, straight down Canberra Ave and it's four minutes past the DFO. From Tuggeranong you can take Lanyon Drive and then left into Gilmore, right into Kealman. It's easier to get to than our Fyshwick site as the place is visible from the main road. Look forward to showing you all around.

Cheers

Shaun
